WE'RE MAKING AN

IMPACT

ON STUDENTS AND TEACHERS
IN THE DAYTON REGION

Highlights from the 2016 School Supply Impact Study

Dayton's Crayons to Classrooms participated in a 2016 study conducted by the Kids in Need Foundation (KINF), which provides free school supplies nationally to students most in need. Crayons to Classrooms, a nonprofit organization that collects and distributes school supplies at no cost to teachers of students in need, is an affiliate of KINF's National Network of Resource Centers.

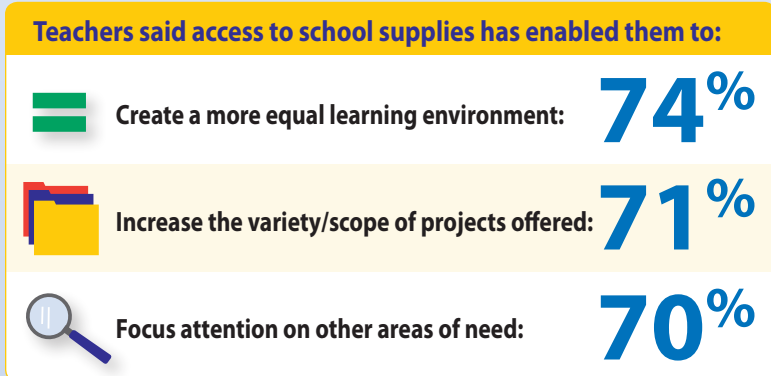

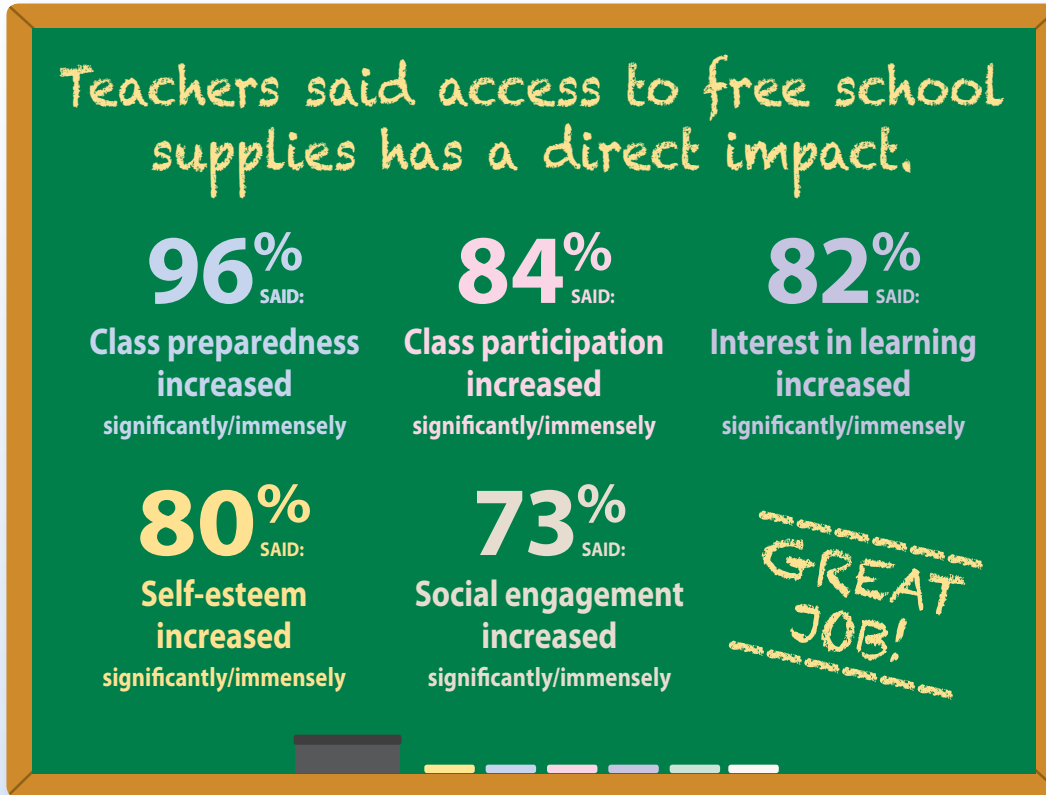

KINF asked teachers served by Dayton's Crayons to Classrooms to complete an online survey. The goal was to better understand the impact our services have when underprivileged students gain access to quality school supplies.

Nearly 300 teachers from the Dayton region responded. These teachers serve students in a variety of classrooms: PreK-12, special education and ELL/ESL (English language learners/English as a second language).

RESULTS FROM KINF'S DAYTON STUDY REAFFIRM OUR MISSION AND HIGHLIGHT THE GREAT NEED WE SERVE. ■

In 2016, the free store for teachers operated by Crayons to Classrooms served 90 schools in the Dayton region.

These schools have 70 percent or more students participating in the National School Lunch Program.

95%
OF TEACHERS SAID:
Access to free school supplies is very important/critical to my personal budget

WHAT TEACHERS SAID ABOUT THE NEED:

"So many students don't even come with a pencil. If they're homeless, that's the last thing on their mind!"

"I have had meltdowns from students who did not have the supplies they need."

"If students don't have needed supplies because their families cannot afford them, they withdraw from learning."

WHAT TEACHERS SAID ABOUT THE IMPACT:

"No child wants to be seen as the one who doesn't have the basics. These supplies help remove the stigma. I see the confidence of students increase."

"Some parents have to choose between food and school supplies. Without Crayons to Classrooms, my students wouldn't have what they need."
